Our French. Professor Poussin, the Belgian refugee professor at Harvard, was pained, at a dinner in his honor, by the applause and cheers which greeted his description of ruined Louvain and wrecked Liege. But when it was explained to Professor Poussin that the Harvard professors and students had a very slight knowledge of French-he had spoken in French-his perplexity vanished, and he smiled.

Hand Firing of Soft Coal.

It is not often that a government bulletin attracts more attention or promises more real benefit in its sphere than the bureau of mines publication on "Hand Firing Soft Coal Under Power-Plant Boilers." It chronicles the results of acual tests and seeks so to present the subject as to the need of men without technical education. So far as possible it avoids technical language, and it is so worded and illustrated that it will aid the work of practical firemen and should be the handbook of all engineers and firemen capable of following printed instructions.—Scientific American.

Difference Between Miss and Mrs. A second grade teacher had difficulty in getting the children to distinguish between Miss and Mrs. They would insist on saying one when they meant the other. Finally, to make the distinction more clear, she said: "John, what is the difference between Miss and Mrs.?"

Whereupon John, one of the slowest children in the room, startled her with the answer, "Mister."

"I had been a coffee drinker since childhood, and did not like to think that the beverage was doing me all this barm. But it was, and the time came when I had to face the fact, and protect myself. I therefore gave up coffee abruptly and absolutely, and adopted Postum for my hot drink at meals.

"I began to note improvement in my condition very soon after I took on Postum. The change proceeded gradually, but surely, and it was a matter of only a few weeks before I found myself entirely relieved—the nervousness passed away, my digestive apparatus was restored to normal efficiency, and I began to sleep restfully and peacefully.

Both Girl and Boy Students Earn Part of Their Way Through the College.

It was more than the commemoration of Park college's fortieth birthday anniversary that took place at Parkville recently. It was the celebration of the success of a scheme of education that has no counterpart in this country. It was a testimonial to the foresight of Dr. John A. McAfee, who, in 1875, launched his plan of selfhelp for college students.

How successful the plan has been at Park is shown by the fact that the school has more than $1,000,000 in land, buildings and endowment, and that more than 400 students are earning most of their college education at the same time they are getting it.

The secret of the plan is that everyone works at Park. The college requires that each student shall work three hours a day. As a result the school is as near self-supporting as it is possible for such an institution to be. All of the work on the campus American, said to his wife at a Paris and in the buildings is done by students and in addition they cultivate 300 acres of land, tend to a 160-acre orchard and run a dairy, canning factory, broom factory, carpenter shop a daughter she and her mother would and a number of other enterprises.

Both girls and boys take care of their rooms in the dormitories and the girls do all the cooking for the Park
